In order to improve upon and support members’ safety within the organization, this Statement of Rights and Responsibilities pulls together pertinent pieces from Mensa’s already-existing Constitution, Bylaws, ASIEs, and other approved policies. It is intended to make it easier for members to understand what they can and cannot do, and to help Ombudspersons navigate complaints and conflicts. Since this statement is a summary of other approved policies, it will be updated automatically as pertinent policies are amended or added without requiring further AMC approval. Also, technical corrections to this statement may be made, if the existing language or references within this statement should be found to be in conflict with the already-existing Constitution, Bylaws, ASIEs and other approved policies that this statement seeks to summarize. Such corrections may be made without requiring separate approval, provided that the AMC must be notified of any such corrections.

In the event that there is any conflict between this statement and the actual provisions of the Constitution, Bylaws, ASIEs, or other approved policies referenced herein, the original source documents shall take precedence.

31. Not be under membership sanctions. [Constitution Article III:F]

Note:

Some rights and responsibilities are so obvious that they are never directly spelled out. These include the right to run for office, vote, use the Mensa name and Logo, receive publications, attend AMC meetings, participate in online discussion venues, and the expectation to adhere to any Codes of Conduct set for Regional or Local Group activities. The bracketed references for those rights contain implied permissions.
